To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing in support of Joe Jakcsy as he seeks a Physics teaching position. Joe is an enthusiastic, energetic young man who has much to give in the field of education.

Joe was a pre-student teacher in my Physics classroom during the fall of 2010. During this time, he assisted students with problem solving, graded papers, and taught several lessons on various Physics topics. I believe he got an accurate taste of what it takes to function effectively as a Physics teacher.

Joe's strengths – as mentioned above – are his energy and enthusiasm. He truly cares about being an effective communicator and teacher, and is very open to learning how to improve. This is a crucial trait in any profession, especially in that of an educator.

To summarize, I am pleased to recommend Mr. Jakcsy as he moves into his career. If you have any questions, feel free to call me at (734) 433-2201 x1222.

Cordially,

Eric Swager
